MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD

Tim Holden, Chairman

Welcome to the Retail Year in Review, a detailed analysis of wine and spirits sales at Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores during the retail year ending on June 28, 2015. Total wine and spirits sales last year including liquor and sales taxes grew 4.2 percent over the prior retail year to $2.34 billion, but that number only scratches the surface of the PLCB's ongoing commitment to superior customer service and a world-class shopping experience.

Sales growth is undoubtedly attributable in part to our ongoing effort to relocate and renovate our stores, making them more convenient and appealing to Pennsylvania consumers. By the end of the retail year, we had co-located 238 stores in shopping centers with grocery stores and rebranded 91 stores to improve customers' in-store experience. Upgraded Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores are long-term investments in our business that have the critical short-term benefit of improving customer service today.

Joseph E. Brion, Board Member

In addition to our continuing effort to relocate and remodel the stores from which we sell our products, we're also making strides in delivering more personal, customized service to our shoppers. Last year we hired 20 additional retail wine specialists, bringing our workforce of highly trained and eager-to-help experts in green aprons to a statewide total of 81.

While the in-store experience is critical to our success, it is not the only way we're improving the way we interact with consumers. We continue to build and enhance our e-commerce store at www.FineWineandGoodSpirits.com, and we're committed to finding and making available to consumers specialty products from anywhere in the world. To that end, last year we sold more than 8.7 million bottles of wine and spirits totaling nearly $87 million through our special liquor ordering system. We maintained more than 47,000 rare and specialty products for sale through this system, which is available by phone or at your local Fine Wine & Good Spirits Store.

Mike Negra, Board Member

We hope the information detailed in the following pages will give you better insight into the products and brands that are selling in Pennsylvania. We're proud of the work this agency does as we continually strive to improve the ways we meet the specific needs of individual consumers and licensees, and we're happy to present you with this snapshot of our business.

The Retail Year in Review is an overview of retail sales in Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores. The report takes a broad look at sales, the location of sales, brand, and items as well as specific sales in spirits and wines. This edition includes additional maps of sales data, sidebars with notable facts, and an infographics page with some unique representations of this year's data. These added features intend to add depth to the reports. Coordinated by the Bureau of Market and Store Analytics, the Retail Year in Review is intended to be plain, to the point, and informative. The research notes are presented here to explain the nuances in reporting and calculations used.

The main features of the publication are reports based on the retail year calendar, regular and luxury items. This calendar includes all weeks being seven days, from Monday to Sunday without partial weeks based on the first of the month. At times the monthly or Gregorian calendar is used and the change is identified in the title or footnotes. Similarly, data extractions, in most cases, are for regular and luxury items. Special Liquor Orders (SLO) are only included when noted. Upgrades to the data have changed some item classifications and created more reliability in reporting. Therefore this year's publication contains more information in the standard reports.

Marketing category is the primary classification for item groups. However, for the purposes of the analytic maps, marketing categories were condensed. For example Italian wine includes the marketing categories for Italian Blush, Italian Chianti, Italian Muscato and any other red or white varietal that is Italian. Similarly, Rum would include flavored, unflavored and spiced rums. Due to the high sales volume of vodka and flavored vodka, the two were kept separate. Condensed categories are only used for the maps. Wine and spirits are given separate maps.

Several calculations were performed on the data, the most common being percentage change. Units and dollars are calculated using this metric. This is the change in either units or dollar sales from the previous year and the formula is as follows:

$$\text{Percentage Change} = (\text{This Year} - \text{Last Year}) / \text{Last Year} * 100$$

The percentage share of departments, sales in a calendar month, categories, county sales, on-premises and off-premises, imported and domestic sales are presented. A percentage share is the amount a component makes of the whole group. Calculating this metric is based on the formula:

$$\text{Percentage Share} = (\text{Component Value} / \text{Total Value of Group}) * 100$$

Another calculation is the compound annual growth rate (CAGR). Using this metric the increase over a period of time, more than just the current and previous year, can be calculated. With the retail year sales data the formula would look like this.

$$\text{CAGR} = (\text{RY}_{2014-15} / \text{RY}_{2010-11})^{(1/4)} - 1 * 100$$

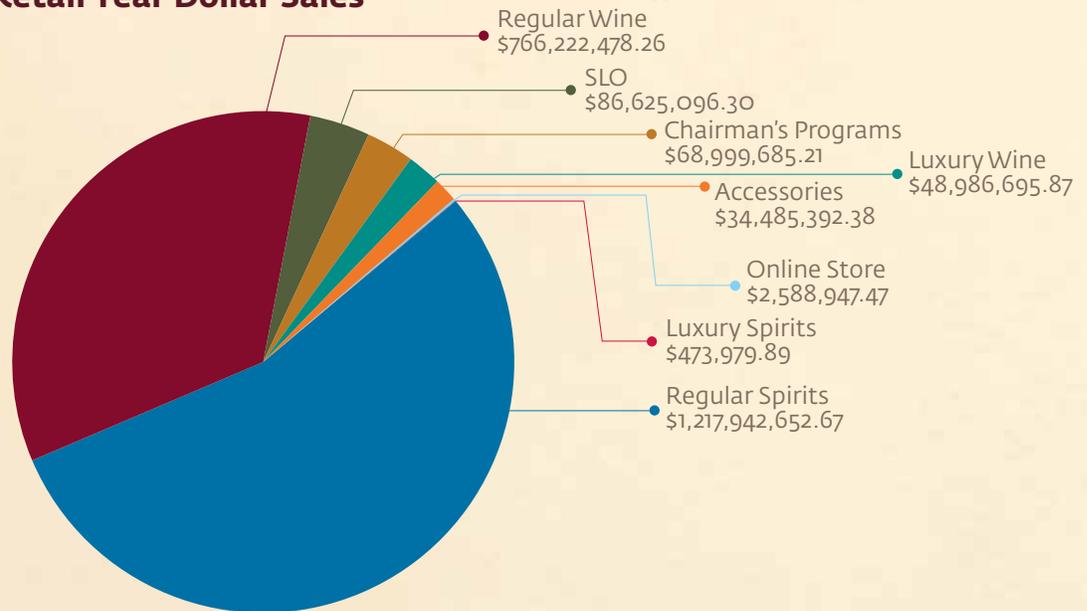

Two types of averages are calculated. Average price is presented for items because this accounts for the mixture of retail, licensee and promotional sales for each product. The average price is calculated by dividing the dollar sales by unit sales. Similarly, the average value of a transaction is calculated by dividing the dollar sales of a store by the transaction count.

Dollar sales amounts are based on the shelf price and these figures do not include the six percent sales tax or local taxes such as those from Allegheny or Philadelphia. When viewing average price, the sales are a combination of those made at regular price, promotion prices or to licensees and may not match the regular shelf price. The data in this report is unaudited and may not match financial statements or other industry publications.

RETAIL YEAR SALES AND SHARES

The overall performance of Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores can be gauged by sales and shares of sales compared with other years, types of items and the timing of sales. Figure 1 contains the sales by department for the past five retail years¹. This includes regular, luxury, Chairman’s Programs such as Chairman’s Selection® and Chairman’s Advantage®, SLO and accessories. Dollar sales have increased by 4.47% over the past retail year. For the past five years the compound annual growth rate (CAGR) is 4.49%.

COUNTY AND STORE REPORTS

Reports on counties and stores can identify where and what types of sales are taking place in different parts of Pennsylvania. Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores are divided into three regions and displayed in Map 1. Premium Collection stores are identified with a red dot and standard stores are identified with a blue dot⁵.

Map 2 shows the top-spirit category by county⁶. The majority of counties have the highest dollar sales in vodka. Rum is dominant on the northern border and in the central part of the state. Cordials are concentrated in the center and Bourbon and Canadian Whisky are found in rural western parts of the state.

Map 3 is the top wine category by county⁷. 5 L Box Wine is dominant in most of the state. There are pockets of other categories. For example Pennsylvania and New York wines are noticeable in the north central areas. U.S. Chardonnay is concentrated in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Cumberland and Union counties also sell more U.S. Chardonnay than other wine categories. U.S. Cabernet is high just outside of Allegheny County in Butler and Washington counties. Meanwhile Italian has a strong showing in Pike, Delaware and Snyder counties. Two counties, Centre and Philadelphia, have Champagne and Sparkling Wine as their top wine categories.

⁵ The maps are based on the number of stores that have recorded sales in the past retail year, a total of 610.

⁶ This map only contains regular listed spirit items and not luxury or SLO.

Notably, larger counties, such as York (7.66%), Westmoreland (7.53%) and Lancaster (7.04%) had increases greater than the statewide 4.47 percent.

Table 7 shows the ranking of all stores by dollar sales. Due to the size of the table it has been placed in the Appendix. Stores with a single asterisk (*) are licensee and fulfillment centers and those with two have been rebranded. The online store is notated with a caret (^) and Premium Collection stores are identified with a dagger (†).

BRAND AND ITEM PERFORMANCE

Brand and item performance isolates the sales of products and compares them with their competitors as well as how items perform in different regions. Table 8 shows a list of the top 100 brands by unit sales⁹. Barefoot (4,264,931), Jacquin's (3,498,453) and Sutter Home (3,496,127) are the top three. Tito's (63.96%), Peter Vella (49.80%) and Fireball (47.61%) had the largest increases in unit sales in comparison to last year.

⁹ Brand sales can be impacted by discontinued items, delisted items, innovation and one time buys. For example both Tito's and Fireball added a 375 mL size. Fireball also added a 50 mL. Without these product innovations, both would have had slightly different results. With just the items active for two years Tito's would have increased by 61.08 percent and Fireball by 40.16 percent. Similarly brands that have major decreases could have had discontinued or delisted items. The smaller portfolio is responsible for some of the larger decreases. In other cases brands lost sales on high volume items.
